Lives of rich men all remind us
That, to make our business rise,
We should leave old ways behind us,
Get up speed and advertise.

Look at the new shoes at Schampire's.
Curry combs, brushes, etc., at Stevens & Rial's.

Stevens & Rial are headquarters for groceries.

Look at Stevens & Rial's line of queensware.

It is waiting—that new corset at Fair Bros. & Co's.

Miss Mary Leah, of this place, has typhoid fever.

While trade picks up, Stevens & Rial's prices go down.

Pretext line yet of new sailors at Fair Bros. & Co's.

Mrs. J. B. Rogers, who has been quite ill, is getting well.

Young men, look at our razor too. These are beauties. SCHAMPIRE.

See those nice Buggies at Field & Holbrook's before you buy.

Few fall goods ready for your inspection at Fair Bros. & Co's.

If you need a first-class press to bale hay, call on Field & Holbrook.

Mrs. C. L. Field is quite ill at the residence of relatives in Paducah.

E. L. Bullington is prepared to give you a quick, easy and close shave.

Good Rigs, good Horses and first-class drivers at Field & Holbrook's.

Are you aware that Fair Bros. & Co's new fall suits are the things to wear?

The "Queen City" shoes are the best. You can find them only at Schampire's.

WANTED—Oak and Hickory Logs and Lumber and Hickory Spokes.

OWENSBORO WHEEL CO.

A bright fresh stock of clean new goods always found at Fair Bros. & Co's.

Mrs. Prudie Taylor, of this place, moved her family to McHenry yesterday.

Are you shoeless? If so, go to Schampire and get a pair of shoes that will stay with you.

Rev. I. H. Lee is conducting a protracted meeting at the Alexander school house.

Put a silver dollar in one of Fair Bros. & Co's hat and see how fine it makes you look.

Mothers make a mistake when they don't buy their boys school suits at Fair Bros. & Co's.

A few more G. A. R. Suits left—remember the price, $8 to $10 suit—at Fair Bros. & Co's.

Miss Ella Hoeker, of Sutherland, Ky., has typhoid fever. Her brother Minor Hoeker is ill of the same disease.

That hog-wallow just under Clerk Hoeker's window is a disgrace to any town pretending to have a court house.

When in Hartford stop at the Commercial Hotel. The politest attention, best of fare and everything first-class.

The Hyattian Society will give an ice cream supper at College Hall Friday night. Everybody invited to attend.

Fair Bros. & Co. want the trade of the Ohio county school teachers. We take your order and sell you goods at Cash prices.

Stevens & Rial have moved into their new stand and have the finest line of groceries, queensware, hardware, etc., in Hartford.

Fair Bros. & Co. never pull the wool over their customer's eyes, but they pull clean wool on their backs when they sell them Clothing.

The Owensboro Inquirer says: Mr. Ed. A. Montague files suit for divorce against his wife, Fannie C. Montague, on the grounds of abandonment.

Miss Florence Morton entertained a few young ladies and gentlemen last Thursday night in honor of her guest, Miss Lula Irene Chapman, of Louisville.

If you need a shave, shingle or shampoo while in attendance at Court, call on E. L. Bullington, than whom there is no better barber in the Green River country.

Dr. E. W. Ford and wife, who have been boarding at Mrs. Hubbard's for the past year, have rented the Miss Mary Taylor property and gone to home keeping.

Mr. Henry Schampire will accept out thanks for a small melon that tipped the beam at 27 pounds. Henry is a horse farmer and has hauled over 600 melons to town this season.

Prof. Elmo Williams has been engaged to teach the public school at No Creek this fall. This speaks well for Prof. Williams, than whom there is no better teacher in the public schools of the county.

Prof. C. M. Crowe and J. L. Elmore will each deliver an address on education at the Chapman school house in district No. 55 to-morrow night. All who can should attend.

A very interesting article, from our Rockport correspondent on the political issues of the day was crowded out for lack of space and time this week but it will appear next week.

When you want Shoes you go to a Shoemaker and not to a druggist, don't you? Schampire is the man and will treat you right and sell you Footwear at the lowest CASH prices.

Anyone who listened to the speeches of Hardin and Bradley at Leitchfield last Wednesday could not be very much astonished at Bradley showing the white feather at Emile.

Capt. Cox has finished burning his kiln of brick. The woodwork of his new building is already in progress and as soon as the brick cool sufficiently the erection of the building will commence.

The doctors say that the dampness of the season, decaying vegetation, etc., will cause much sickness. People should cleanse their premises and take all proper precautions against an epidemic of disease.

Watermelons still continue to come in and the crop seems inexhaustible. The muskmelon and cantaloupe crop is also coming in. The low prices make the melons more and they sell fast. Ten cents gets choice.

Read Bryant & Stratton Business College "ad." in another column. Any one contemplating attending the college from Ohio county, will confer a favor on THE HERALD and be rewarded themselves by reporting the same to THE HERALD.

Miss Minton, Jr., died at his residence near Horton last Wednesday and his remains were interred in the Bethel cemetery Thursday. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. G. J. Bean in the presence of a large crowd.

Marriage license since our last report: Wm. H. Gillins and Flora Ward. J. J. Tichenor and Mary Ashby. Herbert Sanders and Mrs. E. Patterson. Ed Daniel and Mrs. Chapman. J. W. S. Kinsinger and Susan E. Daugherty.

The proprietor of THE HERALD is using a Churn Power, sold by the Enterprise Mfg. Co., of Louisville, whose ad. appears on this page, and would say that its work is highly satisfactory and meets every claim put forth by its manufacturers.

Mr. M. L. Heavin, who went to visit his parents at Owensboro on 25th inst., was taken sick of typhoid fever soon after he arrived there, and his wife was sent for last Thursday morning and at last accounts yesterday was no better. In fact he is a very sick man.

Miss Willie Rowan, youngest daughter of Mr. John Butler Rowan, died yesterday morning at the residence of her parents. Consumption was the disease that carried her away. She will be buried this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Woodward's Valley Cemetery.

Ed. Daniel and Miss Eva Chapman were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the residence of Rev. J. A. Bennett last Thursday. Rev. J. A. Bennett spoke the words that made them man and wife. They are both very popular young people and THE HERALD wishes them happiness complete in their journey through life.

Mrs. E. W. Bartlett, one of the managers of the Woman's Parsonage and Home Mission department of church extensions of the M. E. Church, South, will talk to the women of Beaver Dam, Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m., the 8th inst. We shall be pleased if there is a general turn out of the people to hear her in behalf of our homes.

E. E. PARK.

We hear of considerable complaint from people whose cows have been milked by without authority. A friend told me a few days ago that his cow had come up several times lately with no milk. This is a most despicable piece of business and deserves the most severe condemnation. Parties engaged in milking other people's cows may rest assured that if caught they can and will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law for this petty thievery.

Prof. Wm. Foster, who has been Vice President of Hartford College for several years, left Monday for Louisville, where he will remain until the 10th of Sept., when he will go to Pittsburgh where he will remain the guest of his sister Mrs. McDonald, a few days, after which he will go to Princeton, New Jersey, where he goes to take the post-graduate course. This is one of the oldest and most thorough institutions of the kind in the United States.

Quite a crowd of people assembled at Capt. Cox's brick kiln near town last Saturday night and enjoyed themselves for several hours in the moonlight. The brass and string bands were present and discoursed sweet music and dancing was the principal feature of the evening. Many watermelons were eaten, and the jolly crowd present enjoyed the Captain's hospitality to the utmost. The entertainment was given in honor of Miss Lula Irene Chapman, of Louisville.

This week we announce Mr. C. M. Barnett a candidate for Representative from this county as the nominee of the Republican party. Mr. Barnett is a well known lawyer of this place and has always been an active Republican. For a time he was employed in the revenue service during Harrison's administration and was for a long time editor of the Hartford Republican. He is a well-informed, gentlemanly man, and for his his politics would make Ohio county a creditable Representative.

Last Monday night just after dark the entire stock of general merchandise and store house containing it, owned by Foster & Brown, at Center town, was destroyed by fire. It is not known how the fire originated, as it seemed to spring up in the store all at once without any cause whatever. The stock was valued at about $25,000, upon which there was $1,500 insurance. Messrs. Isaac Foster and Luther Brown, composing the firm of Foster & Brown, are two clever gentlemen, and their many friends will hear of their loss with regret.

In another column we publish this week the card of Mr. James P. Miller announcing his candidacy for Representative as the nominee of the Populist party. Mr. Miller is a well known farmer of the Beaver Dam neighborhood where he enjoys the esteem of his neighbors as a progressive, energetic and capable man. He was formerly a Republican and was always prominent in the councils of that party until he became a Populist, since which time he has been a leader of that party in the county. He is a man of much reading and is an ardent advocate of the principles of the new party. He has many friends in both the old parties as well as among his political brethren.

Will be Taken to Court of Appeals.

The appeal from the Contest Board's decision in the recent whisky election has been dismissed by the Circuit Court. Judge Owen sent in his opinion Saturday, in which he concludes that the Board of Contest had no jurisdiction of the matter set up in the notice, and therefore on an appeal the Circuit Court had no jurisdiction. Having this view he thought it useless to decide whether the County Judge and justice acting with him should have retired from the board at the instance of contestants. An appeal was granted which we understand will be prosecuted at once. Pending the appeal notice has been given by A. T. Nall & Co., that they will on the 14th day of September 1895 apply to the Ohio County Court for license to sell liquor in Hartford, Ky., by the drink.

Commendable Enterprise.

A reporter of THE HERALD happened into Dr. J. R. Pirtle's dental parlors in Hartford yesterday and was shown through the establishment by the Doctor himself. It is generally supposed that a dental office is a place of horror and pain and it is much dreaded by people who have trouble with their teeth and are seeking a remedy. But genius has wrought a vast change in this matter, and in a well kept dental office nowadays can be found every appliance that promotes the ease and welfare of the patient. This is exactly the kind of a dental office Dr. Pirtle conducts. He has supplied his establishment at much expense with every appliance that modern times and the satisfaction of the patient demand. This, in connection with his long experience in the best practical dental colleges of the land, warrant the patient in receiving the best treatment possible under the most modern methods. Dr. Pirtle, knowing the popular dread of the dentist's chair, has arranged especially for the ease of his patients. He has one of the most modern and complete chairs in the city, which is capable of adjustment to the absolute comfort of the one who occupies it. The Doctor has also added to his splendid outfit an appliance for administering nitrous oxide or laughing gas. This is conceded by the most eminent authorities as being the safest anesthetic agent known. By its administration the patient loses all sensibilities to pain and enjoys the most pleasant and exhilarating sensations.

The Doctor makes a specialty of crown and bridge work, the most difficult known to the profession, and for the perfection of which he is especially fitted up with gas, which renders a powerful and concentrated heat for melting purposes and vulcanizing teeth. In short, the Doctor is splendidly prepared for doing all kinds of dental work, and although his first endeavor is to save the tooth, yet he has every appliance for extracting it without pain. He also makes a specialty of regulating irregular teeth and beautifying the mouth. For all of which he guarantees a pleasant operation and the lowest charges.

Pathetic Story of a Young Man.

A few weeks ago a young man bought a pair of socks containing a note signed the writer was an employee of the Kenosha (Wis.) knitting works and wasted a good husband. She gave her name, and requested the buyer, if unmarried, to write with a view of matrimony. The young man who found the note considered the matter in all its phases, and then decided to write to the girl. He did. Alas! with anxiety, he was at last rewarded with a curt letter, stating that the girl was now the mother of two children and had been married four years, and the letter had been written over so long ago. It was a "stockholder," and the young man hunted for a solution. He found it. The merchant of whom he bought the socks doesn't advertise.

Rough River Look No. 1.

August 30th.—The work of putting in the concrete for lock walls will begin in about ten days or two weeks. The sand and gravel and, we believe, all of the cement has been delivered. There is yet some crushed stone to be delivered before many days the number of hands will be largely increased. Things are moving along quite here at this time.

The derrick that sits in the pit was moved the other day I suppose some forty or fifty feet without even taking it down.

On last Saturday the works were visited by Mr. and Mrs. Simon Barnett, Mrs. John Lindley, of near this place, and Mrs. C. B. Sullenger and Miss Ora Barnett, of Hartford. On Sunday by Mr. Aaron Mosley, Miss Susan Malin, of Livermore, and Miss Cassien, of Owensboro.

The health of the neighborhood is generally good, some slight attacks of malaria and some chronic case of sickness, one of which is Miss Will Rowan, who we learn is very low with consumption at this time. JAY FRY SEN.

PERSONAL.

W. H. Moore, Sulphur Springs, is in town. C. L. Field returned from Paducah Monday.

W. T. Peyton and son, Master Ivy E. Peyton, of Clinton, gave us a pleasant call while in town Monday.

Mrs. J. R. Pirtle, of Versailles, Ky., will arrive today to visit the family of her father-in-law, Mr. F. W. Pirtle.

C. W. Parrott, the genial ex-assessor of Ohio county, now of Louisville, called to see us Monday.

N. V. Geary, of Warm Springs, Ark., who is visiting relatives near Arnold, this county, called to see us Thursday.

Wayne Griffin left yesterday for Elkhart, Ky., where he goes to enter school. He was accompanied by his father, Mr. T. L. Griffin.

Mrs. M. L. Heavin is at the bedside of her husband, who is taken violently ill while on a visit to relatives at Owensboro last week.

Mr. T. J. Morton, who graduated with high honors at Hartford College last June, will leave in about two weeks for Greenacres, Ind., to attend the De W. University.

Mr. Ellis Owen, of Owensboro, was the guest of his cousin, James P. Thomas, Monday. He came over on his wheel, covering the distance in two hours and fifteen minutes.

The "Champion" Frunkers Again.

At Emile's Friday, Gen. Hardin and Col. Bradley were billed for a joint discussion and met at the fair grounds for the speaking. An immense crowd was present, consisting of the large amphitheater and when Col. Bradley arose to speak some persons on the outer edge of the crowd disturbed him by continuing to talk aloud to each other. Mr. Bradley asked them to quit and so did Hon. W. P. Thorne, chairman of the meeting. They did not cease talking at once and the gallant Colonel became very much offended. He gathered up his papers and indignantly left the stand, saying as he did so that he and Gen. Hardin had already made five speeches in this campaign and this was the first time he had found himself unable to get a respectful hearing and he wished he had voted sufficient to make himself heard while he expressed his contempt for such proceedings and such a crowd. The disorder was not greater than that usually seen at gatherings of the kind, and Gen. Hardin himself appealed to the crowd to keep quiet and give Mr. Bradley a respectful hearing. The disorder mentioned was in no wise traceable to Gen. Hardin or any of his friends, nor is any claim made that he or they were in any way responsible for it, but for the gallant and chivalric Colonel straightway announces that he has been insulted by some men in a crowd at the Emile's fair grounds and therefore he will not fill his other engagements to meet Gen. Hardin on the stump. He will have no more discussions notwithstanding his written agreement for twelve and only five have occurred. He refuses to meet Gen. Hardin at Covington, Cynthia, London and the other points agreed upon. Upon this timely protest he flunkers out of an agreement to discuss fairly and openly the issues of this campaign and slinks away like the arrant coward that he always is.

Mr. Hardin will fill the other appointments agreed upon, but nobody has any power to drag the man Bradley back to his agreement. He refuses longer to join in a series of debates which were rapidly developing into a series of triumphs for Gen. Hardin and humiliating discomfiture for the champion of high taxes and Republicans.

The self-respecting Republicans of the State can find no justification for Bradley's course and are hanging their heads in shame for such a leader.

LIVERMORE, KY.

August 31, 1895.—The Teachers' Institute held at Owensboro last week was very interesting and profitable, and yet we believe the Ohio County Teachers' Institute was by far the better session.

Prof. Costas, of Greenville, served as conductor and had some interesting discussions upon the subjects handled in the Institute. On school punishment he says: "Never, never whip a child without first consulting its parents." This with a number of other sessions during the week did not meet the hearty approbation of the teachers, though in general Prof. Costas handled the discussions tolerably efficiently, and endeavored himself to the Davies county teachers. Those in attendance from Ohio county were Miss Effie Kahn, Mr. John B. Taylor and your scribe. The most interesting incident during the week was perhaps when Prof. V. E. Berry, a strong silver man, attacked an essay on Government, read by Miss Florence Pendleton, in which she paid a compliment to John G. Carlisle.

Mr. Berry read an extract taken from Mr. Carlisle's speech made in 1873 and referred forcibly to his position on silver at that time, emphasizing the great contrast between his position now and then. Mr. Berry received a great deal of applause, but when Miss Pendleton arose to reply she was applauded greatly, so much so that she was often compelled to wait until applause closed before finishing a sentence.

Her reply was delivered in a way that was highly commendable, and she proved herself equal to the occasion in every respect. The affair was largely enjoyed by all present.

Mr. John Crouch, one of the carpenters on Rough river locks, received a sun-stroke day before yesterday evening and has not recovered sufficiently to resume work yet, but is getting along nicely and will likely be able to commence work again Monday.

We very much regret that we could not fill our appointment at Buford last night. We trust, as it was inconvenient for us to be present, that we will be forgiven for our absence. However, we are satisfied that the audience was highly entertained by Prof. Crowe.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Williams attended the Green River Association last week. They report a nice time.

Miss Maggie D. Williams is attending the McLean County Institute at Calhoun this week.

Estell Williams and J. M. Whitehouse made a flying trip to Owensboro yesterday.

Str. Exmo.

Attention, Ex-soldiers.

Reminiscence of the Seventeenth Kentucky Infantry called at Louisville, Sept. 18th. The surviving members of the 17th Kentucky Ky., Vol. Infantry are called to meet at 108 West Main St., (at the office of Vaughan & Ferguson), Louisville, on Tuesday, Sept. 10th at 3 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of holding a reunion. It is hoped that every member of the old regiment, attending the National G. A. R. encampment, will be present.

ROBERT VAUGHAN, L. B. NALL, SAM K. COX, THOS. R. BROWN, ATHA AUD.

Goods are sometimes "evil," as Franklin wisely observed. A liver pill good for extreme cases of biliousness, but a milder and equally effective remedy in all cases of biliousness are Ramon's Tonic Liver Pills and Pellets.

Four druggists carried them in stock and they cost but 25 cents. This remedy cures completely, but without the severity of the average liver pill. Sample free.

The Logic of It.

(New York Witness.)

"Dry was no name for it." That is what the Executive Sen has to say of the effects of prohibition in this great city last Sabbath. Even the liquor sellers have acknowledged that the law is too strong for them and have promised to obey it. And yet we are sure we have not even begun to hear the last of the illogical argument that prohibition does not prohibit and therefore should not be put upon the statute books. That argument is illogical because it claims in effect that the people of the country are not capable of governing themselves, and that our republican form of government is a failure; which everybody knows is not true.

Early autumn fashions will be represented very fully in the number of Harper's Bazar to appear September 7th. A practical article on "Every-day Physical Culture" will find many interested readers among women.

A Fine Stock of Goods.

For sale at a bargain, a stock of general merchandise consisting of Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, also a complete stock of Groceries, Tinware, Glassware and Queensware and in short everything usually kept in a first-class general store. The stock of goods is new and seasonable and in a good location. Cash and item if paid securely is given. Will take part in good real estate. Terms most reasonable. For further particulars call on HERALD, Hartford, Ky.

A policy in the Prudential Insurance Company protects the holder against being unable to complete his payments by the following provisions: It will secure him (1) a loan with which to pay his premium; (2) a paid-up policy; or (3) continue the policy in force for its face value for a stated term. This latter will be done without any action on the part of the insured, immediately upon default of any premium after three (two, in the case of Endowment) full year's premiums have been paid.

Claims paid immediately on receipt of satisfactory evidence of death. No restrictions whatever in policy money, except service in war. Policy incontestable for any cause after two years. Strong, liberal and progressive. G. B. LINTZ, Agt., Hartford, Ky.

A Good Farm For Sale.
